Artificial Intelligence, or AI, is a modern technology that allows machines to think, learn and take decisions like humans. Unlike normal machines, AI systems learn from information and get better with experience. They can do many things without constant human help. For example, in healthcare, AI helps doctors find diseases early and plan better treatment. In education, AI supports in finding the strong and weak points of students. Today, AI is commonly used in search engines, online banking, traffic systems and mobile apps.

However, too much dependence on AI can create serious problems. Many people fear loss of jobs as machines take the place of human workers. Machines cannot replace human qualities like feelings, creativity and sense of right and wrong. Therefore, AI should be used carefully and responsibly. It must remain a useful tool under human control. When guided by moral values, AI can contribute positively to human development and social progress.

One of the greatest mysteries of bird life is travelling. Every year during autumn and early winter, birds travel from northern regions of Asia, Europe and America to the southern warmer lands. They make the return journey again during spring and early summer. They are punctual unless they are delayed by bad weather. They face many dangers and hardships while travelling long distances through the air, overhills, forests, plains and large stretches of water. Sometimes sudden storms arise and drive them far out of course. Often they are blown right out to sea and are drowned in the wild waves. At night bright lights attract and confuse the birds. They cannot fly at their fastest. The migration speed is usually from 48 to 64 Km an hour and rarely exceeds 80.
